Application No. 10/628,860

Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Mr. Ley had argued the deficiency of Navach et al. in meeting the limitations of the instant claims. Examiner had indicated that Navach et al. serve to read upon the language of the claims as broadly presented. The so called "lever-like mechanical advantage", for example, is/would be met by the Navach et al. section that rises from the ischial area 74 towards the area designated as 26 or 36 as seen in Fig. 2. Otherwise, Examiner had indicated to Mr. Ley that the elements of Applicants' disclosed cushion should be specifically and distinctly set forth in the claim language. Language directed to desired effect or presumed consequence would not serve to establish a distinction over the prior art. .
